Speak up for a child

The Guardian Ad Litem program of Palm Beach County has opened an office in Belle Glade.

According to Julia Wilkinson, an ad-litem advocate, office space has been made available in the Glades Office Building, thanks to the efforts of Judge Michael Miller.

Guardian Ad Litem is seeking volunteers to advocate for abused and neglected children in the judicial and the social service systems.

Training for the Glades area is being held for three days on April 21, 22 from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. and from 9 a.m. to noon on April 23, in the Guardian Ad Litem office, upstairs, Glades Office Building, State Road 715.

For more information call Mrs. Wilkinson at 996-4894, Mondays and Wednesdays.

"Rags to riches" lawyer to speak at GCCHS

Attorney Willie Gary

"Rags to Riches" Attorney Willie E. Gary of Stuart will be the guest speaker at Glades Central Community High School's Annual Educational Fair April 7 at 7:30 p.m.

The event will be in the school's gymnasium.

Attorney Gary will share his life story about how he was one of 11 children in a family of migrant farm workers.

His schooling was interrupted when he was nine, when he had to join his parents and siblings in the fields, first picking beans and sweet corn in Florida and then following the crops north to the Carolinas.

He attended classes in the morning and worked in the afternoon.

Mr. Gary indicates he always wanted to learn and remembers vividly his rides in trucks to the fields, studying the words on billboards during the rides.

He began playing football in high school, and, encouraged by teachers, he set out to earn a college athletic scholarship, his only chance for higher education.

At five feet, seven inches tall, he was small for college football, but he persisted. After he tried out unsuccessfully at several Florida colleges, Mr. Gary said he decided to try out at a far away school he had heard about in Raleigh, North Carolina.

With $15 in his pocket and a battered suitcase held together by a rope, Willie Gary took the bus from Indiantown, to Raleigh, where Shaw University is located.

Arriving at Shaw, he was told all the spots on the football team were filled and was advised to return home. Instead of taking that advice, Willie Gary bunked on a dormitory couch, lived on food supplied by students and made a job for himself cleaning the locker room at the school.

An assistant football coach became impressed by Mr. Gary's determination and provided him a meal ticket to eat in the cafeteria and permitted him to become a waterboy for the football team. Then, as the story goes, Mr. Gary made the football team as a substitute because a regular player had been injured and he thus won a scholarship to study at Shaw University.

Once Mr. Gary was admitted to Shaw, he took his class work seriously and also established a thriving lawn care business which produced an annual income of $25,000. He married

Court upholds District action in Everglades suit

The Fourth District Court of Appeals has ruled the Governing Board of the South Florida Water Management District acted properly when, on July 26, 1991, the Board directed its chairman to sign the Everglades Federal Lawsuit Settlement. The ruling was a setback to the Florida Sugar Cane League and the Pahokee Water Control District, which had sought an administrative hearing to contest the settlement.

Tilford C. Creel, executive director of the District said, "The Court's decision upholds the Governing Board's determination that the League was not entitled to an administrative hearing on the merits of the settlement agreement."

In its ruling, the Court of Appeals said the plaintiffs were premature in seeking an administrative hearing at the time of the signing. The Court did leave the way open for other avenues of redress through the District's rule-making, Everglades SWIM Plan or stormwater permitting processes. At the present time, these cases are underway.

He ran a red light...Cleveland Foster Byrd, 42 of 1225 S.W. Avenue C, Belle Glade was treated and released at Glades General Hospital last Friday afternoon after police say he ran a red light in front of Osceola Center on Avenue L, hitting Leonides Gonzalez, 45, of 1613 N.W. 12th Street. Police say Byrd was having chest pains and complaining of neck pain. He had to be cut out of his 1992 Chevrolet convertible. The other driver was unhurt.

Scholarship fund established in memory of Dean Jones

By BRENDA BUNTING
SUN Editor

A memorial scholarship has been set up at the Bank of Pahokee in memory of Palm Beach Post reporter Dean Jones, who died March 22 at his home in Belle Glade.

The Dean Jones Memorial Scholarship Fund will award a scholarship yearly to a Glades student pursuing a career in journalism.

Tom O'Hara, managing editor of The Post, suggested the scholarship fund, saying that Mr. Jones was "enormously valuable to us out there (in the Glades area) because of his extraordinary knowledge of the area."

Mr. Jones left The Post in 1972 to become the editor of the Belle Glade Herald. He held that position until 1981 when he went to work for The Evening Times, again covering events in the Glades.

Mr. Jones, 54, was a graduate of the University of Florida. He spoke on several occasions of his struggle to attend college while supporting himself by working two jobs. Those lean years made him sympathetic to others who lacked the financial means to put themselves through college.

"This would mean a lot to Dean," said his longtime friend R.D. Santerfelt.

Mr. Santerfelt, who helped establish the scholarship fund and is the president of the scholarship committee, said a 501C-3, (non-profit) status is being applied for, but in the meantime, contributions are not tax deductible.

Mr. Jones was an advocate for the Glades who was well-liked and respected by community leaders.

In 1985 he was named Belle Glade's Citizen of the Year.

Friends of Mr. Jones can make contributions to the scholarship fund at The Belle Glade Chamber of Commerce, located on South Main Street, The Sun office in White's Plaza on SR 715 or in Clewiston at The Clewiston News.

Police ask for help in finding masked men who robbed Town Star

Belle Glade Police are asking for your help to solve a robbery at the Town Star at 1642 N.E. Avenue L, Belle Glade.

Detective W.T. Murphy said four masked men entered the Town Star about 8:30 p.m. on March 22 and demanded money.

One of the men fired a gun off in the store before making the demand for cash. The men then ran from the store and one of the suspects shot at a person outside the store.

Two other masked suspects were seen running behind the store.

Det. Murphy said they are looking for a four-door brown compact car in which the men fled the area.

If anyone has any information about this incident, please contact Det. Murphy of the Belle Glade Police Department at 996-7251 or call Crime Stoppers at 996-TIPS.

Hard work, dedication pay off for South Bay man

By BRENDA BUNTING
SUN Editor

John Pettry is used to obstacles; doors that won't open, buildings without ramps, water fountains so high they might as well be mirages in the desert.

John has worked to see those things change, and change they have. The thirty-seven-year-old quadriplegic from South Bay was one of the first handicapped students to attend Palm Beach Community College, Glades Campus two years ago.

When he started, all the water fountains were inaccessible for him. But, the biggest obstacle was a two-inch lip at the entrance to the college.

"It might as well have been a mountain. I couldn't get my wheelchair in the door," he said.

All that has changed.

Now the college has several water fountains a few feet off the ground; the entrance doors are automatic, the restrooms have handicapped facilities, and there are several desks designed for handicapped students in the computer lab where John now works part-time.

John doesn't take full credit for the changes. He said it just happened that he and two other handicapped students started at the college at the same time. The college staff before that time had no handicapped students, therefore, there was no need to adapt.

PBCC is now a large part of John's life. In fact, he says making the decision to further his education has turned his life around.

In a paper he wrote last year for his health class, titled "Life Goes On" John explained the depth of his despair after a swimming accident July 22, 1982 left him paralyzed from Scholarship awarded...South Bay resident John Pettry recently went to Tallahassee to accept a scholarship to continue his education at Palm Beach Community College, Glades Campus. College officials say Mr. Pettry is an inspiration to his fellow students and manages to work part time while attending school despite the fact he is a quadriplegic. Shown presenting Mr. Pettry his award is Dr. Norman McLeod.

to parents next Wednesday, April 7. Hope it's good news for everyone!

Speaking of good news, The Class of 1996 received some when told that they raised the most money among grades 7-12 for this year's Spring Fling. The freshmen's reward is a Free Skip Day to be taken Friday, April 30.

Eleven baseball fans who are also members of Glades Day's Fellowship of Christian Athletes attended a breakfast with the Atlanta Braves on Saturday, March 20. This annual event is popular among the students as they get the chance to mingle with professional athletes who are also members of FCA.

CDS congratulations seventh grader Patrick Hodge, who competed in the countywide spelling bee sponsored by the Palm Beach Post, recently.

Patrick made it to the top six sellers before being eliminated.

Congratulations to sixth graders Josh Crawford and Brooke Prescott, who were crowned Prince and Princess during the fifth and sixth grade dance held Friday, March 26. Thanks to the efforts of the room mothers, the school's cafeteria was transformed into a Mardi Gras ballroom. Dancing was enjoyed by all - even a few teachers were seen moving to the latest tunes!

Volleyball Players Please Note: Glades Day School's volleyball tournament that was originally scheduled for March 13 has been rescheduled for Saturday, April 10. Please contact Mike Schlechter at Everglades Farm Equipment (996-6531) for more information.

Happy April Fool's Day! Most students at GCCHS don't want to be one at the fourth nine weeks and last of the 1992/93 school year began this week. Getting those credits and raising the GPA is pounded into everyone's brain. Now, if we just don't all catch a lethal case of spring fever, we'll survive. Spring holidays begin April 9th through the 18th, a well deserved rest and break for us all.

Students of the Week

For the ninth week of the third nine weeks the following students were chosen: freshman Yolanda Perez and Juvenio Rivera; sophomores Maryuri Rojas and Robert Fudge; juniors Dounia Joseph and Hector Lorient and seniors Heather Frazier and Jude Exantus. Congratulations.

Thanks to the firefighters

To the firefighters of Belle Glade Fire Department, we would like to thank you for what you did on March 14, 1993, when the tornado came.

We know that you are underpaid and short-staffed, but when the power went out, we didn't know who to call, so we called you. You did a great job!

People's homes and cars were smashed and wrecked and trees were uprooted and power was out, and you were there at all day riding around in trucks and helping people.

We knew you were tired and sleepy the day of the storm, but you kept going until you got everything back on track. So, I don't understand how people underestimate the things that you do for us and the city.

I am the wife of one of the firefighters and I think they do the best job, even though they are short of men and the pay is low. The people of Belle Glade should be thankful and supportive of our firefighters.

More on roads...

Just for curiosity's sake. When is the predicted date for construction on South Main Street and East Avenue A? South Main has patches undone south of Avenue E and Avenue E is also a mess.

Any hope in the near future?

Editor's note: We spoke with Barbara Sarff, who handles public information for the Department of Transportation. She said she does not have a specific breakdown of how soon various parts of a contract will be finished. We did express our concern to her over parts of the project, including Main Street and the stretch between Belle Glade and South Bay. She said citizen's concerns would be passed along to Mark Croft, the project manager for Palm Beach County, DOT. Thank you for Speaking Out.

Lead poisoning can be avoided

The Centers for Disease Control has declared lead poisoning as the number one environmental problem facing American children.

It can cause mental retardation, learning disabilities, and possibly irreversible brain damage as well as damage to the central nervous system.

Pregnant women should also be concerned about exposure to lead. Babies exposed to lead before birth may be born too small or too early.

Early symptoms of lead poisoning include chronic fatigue, insomnia, irritability, loss of appetite, stomach discomfort, reduced attention span, vomiting or constipation. Because these symptoms can signal other illnesses, the only way to diagnose lead poisoning is by blood testing. Not all doctors routinely test patients' blood for lead poisoning, so you might have to insist on it.

Every child under six needs to be tested. Have the first test done at six months at your doctor's office. Undernourished children or those who live in deteriorating housing or in housing undergoing renovations, should be tested more often. But medical treatment is only half the answer. Prevention is the other half. You should remove lead hazards in your home.

- If your house or apartment was built before 1978, the painted surface should be tested to see if lead is present. Avoid home renovation and improvement projects that will create lead dust.
- Keep your child from eating paint chips, dust or dirt. Clean them up with a wet mop or wet cloth.

- Have your child wash his or her hands after playing outside -- and before meals and bedtime.
- Wash your child's toys often.

Dollars are shrinking for fire fighting

Dear Editor:

What does proper manning and safety mean to firefighters around the country? It means that in our business you can never depend on the "routine" remaining "routine." It doesn't matter what type of operation is most frequent in your area. What matters is that your department has the personnel, training, and equipment to address the routine operation and also the capacity to adjust tactics and strategy to address situations which go beyond the routine.

Fire service personnel are generally well aware of this. Unfortunately, the well meaning people who control fire service budgets do not understand. They would limit our capacity and capabilities to the most basic essentials in the name of fiscal responsibility. Clearly, we have both legal and moral obligations to manage our departments with continuing realization of the critical competing needs for ever shrinking municipal budgets. We must always recognize that we have a responsibility to the taxpayers to spend their monies prudently, responsibly, and intelligently.

This responsibility cannot be over stated. But, we must never permit, in the name of efficiency and fiscal responsibility, reduction of our ability to protect our communities. It is our job to assure our department is staffed, trained, and equipped to respond to the challenges facing the fire service today.

A minimum staffing standard is needed because fire departments all over the country have been decimated by ruthless budget cuts, with more to come. Under manned fire departments not only endanger firefighters, but also the lives and property of the people they protect. That is the issue that should be of first concern to the Fire Service and the one that must be brought to the public's attention.

That's what this union is all about.

Statehood not necessary for Washington, D.C.

Dear Editor:

Statehood proposals for Washington, D.C. should be rejected. Statehood would not solve D.C.'s many problems and no amount of political posturing on the part of statehood supporters will change that fact. In truth, many problems would be intensified, not improved. Washington, D.C. does not meet the requirements for statehood. Making such an exception to the historical prerequisites for statehood would risk fundamentally changing our federalist republic. This is a risk that should be avoided.

There are a number of alternatives to D.C. statehood. Given the intent of the Founding Fathers, maintaining the status quo may be the best choice.

Denying Washington, D.C. statehood does not mean denying its residents a voice in the nation's affairs. The District's residents currently have far more access and influence than the residents of any state. They maintain control over their local affairs, and receive more in federal aid than any other area of the country. If the status quo is deemed unacceptable, ceding territory back to the state of Maryland is an alternative that should be considered. If representation is truly the issue concerning statehood proponents -- not personal political advancement -- then retrocession should receive their full support. Retrocession would give the city's residents congressional representation on par with other U.S. cities, while minimizing the damage to the nation's federalist form of government.

Dismantling the federal city and creating the "State of New Columbia" is a serious threat to our federalist heritage and should be rejected. It would seem D.C. Statehood proponents have chosen to ignore the risks and have forgotten Washington, D.C. is the nation's capital. D.C. Statehood is a risk the American people do not wish to take. A Post election poll conducted November 3, 1992 by Citizens United found that 62 percent of Americans disapprove of statehood initiatives for D.C.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Theodora L. Rope

Open letter to Glades General

Editor's note: Ed Mayo asked that this letter be written to Glades General Hospital be reprinted in The Sun newspaper.

Dear Mr. Neil Whipkey:

I want to thank you and your staff for the excellent care I received at Glades General Hospital. The last thing I expected was a heart attack, but thanks to the excellent job of the emergency room staff, the C.C.U. staff, Dr. Venugopal, and many others, I am doing fine.

It is human nature to take things for granted, not thinking too much about the local hospital, and how important it is to the community until you need it.

I hate to think what would have happened if Glades General was not here, had I had to go to West Palm Beach for treatment.

Sure local hospitals cost money to operate, but they also save lives.

We must never forget that and how valuable Glades General Hospital is to the people in the Glades.

Keep up the good work, and thank you all.

Ask Dr. Boltson

Dr. David Boltson is the associate director of the Western Palm Beach County Mental Health Clinic in Belle Glade, and is a licensed psychologist in private practice in Lake Worth.

Dear Readers,

Many people spend their whole lives pursuing the elusive prize known as "happiness." Many hope to improve their "quality of life," yet don't define what they mean by "quality."

Is it more money? Less weight? Better sex? A bigger house? A smaller car? More power? Less anger? A better relationship with God? A different job?

A good quality of living can be comprised of all of these or none of these. Many people believe that more is better and pursue just one or two life options relentlessly while ignoring the many other aspects of well-rounded living. I have seen many unhappy rich, healthy, good looking people.

While many people joke that it's better to be rich and unhappy than poor and unhappy, I believe that our society greatly overestimates money as the primary key to better living.

Those people who are truly content often do not get noticed by others. Loud and flashy people get noticed because they try to be loud and these people were truly happy however, they wouldn't devote so much of their time trying to get others' attention.

I can not claim in this column to declare the proper way to live for all people. Each person must decide what makes sense for them. I have noticed however, that content people do not expect or demand that they must have certain things in order to be happy. Rather, they seem to have an open or searching attitude. They seek (for example) spirituality, better interpersonal relationships, career advancement, save for the future, and enjoy the positive elements that are in their lives today.

What things you have acquired or what you have accomplished are not as important as pursuing your goals and feeling you are pointing yourself in a positive and worthwhile direction.

If you try to live up to other people's expectations and standards, you could be in trouble -- after all, most people aren't very happy, and so consequently, there are some pretty low standards out there.

If you would like to anonymously inquire about issues regarding yourself or your acquaintances, you may do so by writing to Dr. Boltson. You don't even have to give your name or address. Just mail all questions to:

the chest down.

"I made a running dive into a shallow canal, hit my head and the impact broke my neck," he wrote.

"At that second, my life was changed forever."

John said he spent the first three or four years after the accident feeling sorry for himself. He eventually became suicidal.

"I thought that perhaps my children and my parents would be better off if I were dead," he said.

Sometime in his fourth year after the accident he began to realize his life was going nowhere and everything was getting worse. "It also became clear that I was not setting a good example for my children," he said. John has a son, John, and a daughter, Dollynn. He also has a one-and-a-half-year old granddaughter, Brittny.

John said he went back to school, got his General Education Diploma and then enrolled at PBCC with financial help from the Department of Vocational Rehabilitation. They pay for his tuition and books.

He has four years to finish his education at PBCC.

"I love it out here. I can't think of anything I'd rather do. In fact, I'm kind of scared what I'm going to do after this," he said.

John says he wants to get a degree in psychology and use his life experiences to help others.

"I think it's a realistic goal and while psychology is a very low paying field, I'm also thinking of later on teaching adult education. I get a sense of self-worth helping others," he said.

"I'm determined I will accomplish this. I'm not planning on quitting after I get my AA degree. I'm going for at least a masters," he said.

John takes classes four days a week. He works in the computer room 12 hours a week administering tests, tutoring students in Word Perfect other jobs.

He recently was selected as the recipient of the 1993 Florida Developmental Education Association (FDEA) Excellence in Developmental Education Scholarship.

The $500 scholarship was awarded to John at a ceremony in Tampa on March 11.

"We were thrilled to hear that John had won this scholarship," said Dr. Helen Franke, provost at the college.

"It's been fantastic having John here as a student," she said. "He encourages and tutors other students."

Freddie Harrelle, director of student services at the college echoes Dr. Franke's comments. "John is an inspiration to all the students," he said. "And he helps other disabled students as well. We feel fortunate to have him here as a student."

South Florida Operations responds to storm emergency

Business is never usual, or life boring, at Corps of Engineers projects. Marlyn Harn and his people again found that to be true, this time during the second heavy storm to hit South Florida in seven months.

Harn, who is chief of the Operations and Maintenance Section, of the Jacksonville District's South Florida Operations Office in Clewiston, sent crews out early Saturday morning (March 13) to inspect Corps structures in Hendry, Glades and Palm Beach counties.

"I also instructed them to take photos and make a report on any destruction within our area of responsibility, in accordance with our emergency response regulations," Harn said. The Operations Office's 320 foot communications tower had collapsed and damaged a nearby picnic pavilion as high winds from the storm that across Florida and up the East Coast.

"One of our first priorities was to have the power turned off immediately to prevent electrical shock injuries," said Harn.

Crews were dispatched to investigate the condition of the flood control structures around Lake Okeechobee and the Herbert Hoover Dike, which has about 140 miles of levee that have an average height of 34 feet. They reported that all of the Corps of Engineers structures are in levees around the lake were in good condition.

In the Moore Haven area, the crews found several boats had capsized 300 yards from the Moore Haven Lock at the La-Master campground, which is leased from the Corps. Corps of Engineers operations and maintenance crews in boats, fought heavy winds to secure the vessels to the shore. "I am very proud of the work that our people accomplished securing the derelict and sunken boats. It was all 'hands on' work because high winds prohibited the use of a crane and divers to remove the boats from the lake," Harn said. "It was imperative that we secure the boats so that they would not drift into and jam, or possibly go over Spillway 77," he said. Harn also said that because of the freeze warnings for March 14 and 15, local farmers increased drawing water from the Caloosahatchee River (canal 43) to protect their crops. Corps personnel opened S-77 at Moore Haven Lock to maintain the desirable pool levels in the canal between the Moore Haven and Otona Locks."

Still, to Harn and his operations and maintenance crews, it was all in a day's work. These are the same crews that were first on the scene to respond to Hurricane Andrew relief efforts seven months ago, even before contracts were let by the Army Corps of Engineers. They cleared roads, installed roofing, and did whatever was needed to help the citizens of Dade County.

Talk about town

By Elsie Singletary

Founder's Day

The Glades Ebonyque Ladies Club celebrated its Founder's Day on Sunday, March 21 at 4:30 p.m. at the Resurrectional Institutional Baptist Church. Rev. O.W. West delivered a dynamic message on "ghetto" living.

Essence Unique Ladies Club President Elsie Singletary was presented a basket floral arrangement for her support of the GELS. Friendship Women's Club member Mildred Taylor received the Most Dedicated Honorary Member Award.

Essence Singletary is also a GEL honorary member of the organization.

The Resurrection Church was also presented a plaque. Katherine McKinney, mother of GEL Mary McKinney, and GEL Mary Pringle was awarded a plaque for being the most supportive mother of the Edna McClendon, who gave the prayer, GENT Cornelius Dewey Foster, who read scripture, Johnny Coleman, who led the congregational song and hymns, Sandra Johnson, who did a solo, Rev. Jesse Biggs Jr., who gave the introduction of the speaker, GEL Derley West who gave the welcome, Minister Larry Smith who gave the invitation, and Elsie Singletary, who introduced the master of ceremonies.

The guest clubs were the Essence Unique Ladies and the Ladies in Unity.

This was a delightful occasion presented by the Glades Ebonyque Ladies Club. One to be long remembered. Congratulations GELS.

The Glades Ebonyque ladies Club sponsored a spring time give-away on March 21.

Winners of the give-away are: First prize, a cordless telephone, won by Brother John Jenkins of Hurst Chapel; second prize, a camera, given to Brian Fox of Pahokee; third prize, $25 given to Frank Faxon of Hurst Chapel.

Congratulations winners and best wishes GELS.

Gospel fest put on

by local churches

The Pahokee High School sponsored a gospel fest for the 1993 senior class. Mrs. Eugenia Jones is the principal. Mrs. Edna McClendon served as the mistress of ceremony. Greater New Hope, Choir Number one and the Bouyer Gospel Crusaders sang. Rev. Percy L. Bass is the pastor.

Also singing were members of the Church of God, Pahokee. Bishop Ronald Rolle is the pastor. St. James A.M.E. Church Choir with Rev. James Rosier, pastor; The Friendly Morning Star B.C. Choir of Runyon Village and Moriah M.B.C. Choir, Bryant Village, Rev. Jesse Biggs, Jr., pastor.

A group made up of members belonging to the New Beginning Church, House of God Streamline also rendered song services.

Shiloh M.B.C. Choir was represented with a reading by Mrs. Pearl Freeman. The St. James A.M.E. Church Choir Number one and Number Three gave a presentation of "America, America, We Are The World." Rev. James Rosier, Jr. was the director and musician.

This event was a joyous occasion for all to enjoy. Many thanks to the people responsible for this wonderful gathering.

Canal Point United Methodist Church honors local deputies

The Canal Point United Methodist Church celebrated the effectiveness of the Palm Beach County Sheriff's Office, with an appreciation dinner on Sunday, March 28.

During the morning worship service, the church recognized two of their own, Deputy Ray Ruby, and Analyst Dennis Wagner, and others from the Sheriff's Office.

Captain John Mills, Commander of the Belle Glade Sub-Station brought greetings to the congregation from Sheriff Richard Willie.

Analyst Dennis Wagner was recognized as February Civilian Employee of the Month

by the PBSO. Deputy Ray Ruby was recognized as February Deputy of the month by the PBSO.

Others attending from the Sheriff's Office included Lt. David Estes, Deputy Fernando Navarro, Sgt. Mike York, Dispatchers Sandi Ruby and Kathy Senzina.

Pahokee Garden Club cleans up

Members of the Pahokee Garden Club went out on March 4, picking up litter along Bacom Point from the city park, and working south. This effort officially was their first time on "Adopt-A-Highway" for "Litter Control". Many members and residents on Bacom Point Road picked up trash that is being thrown down. Members are urging all area residents and passer-bys, please do not "Trash our roads, highways, town streets, parks waterways, parking lots and yes, our yards." Florida spends over $6,500,000, in just one year on litter control. That's a lot of money folks! Florida's litter law has a fine. Let's all do our part and work together "Keeping Florida Glenn Glitter Clean." By the way, "Glenn Glitter" is the Florida Federation of Garden Clubs logo.

LOW BACK PAIN

If back pains are a way of life for you, the reasons can be varied and complex. Some may be pathological, but very often the cause is muscles which are either over or under-exercised which are producing spinal distortion. Vertebrae slip into abnormal positions, resulting in "pinched" and irritated nerves, which cause pain and even loss of function of the affected body part. Poor posture, or even emotional tension, can be the root cause.
